ELECT OFFICERS

Stockholders of the New Peoples Warehouse Pick Out the Heads of the Corporation for the Coming Year.

The stockholders of the Peoples Warehouse Company held their election of officers in this city yesterday. The election was the first one held by the new company, the following were the directors selected by the stockholders for running the business of the corporation: R. L. Turner, H. B. Wood, D. J. Rees, Dr. A. O. Taylor and Robert Wells.

The following officers were then chosen:

President and General Manager—R. L. Turner.
Vice President—H. B. Wood.
Secretary—Thomas A. Keith, Jr.
Treasurer—D. K. Wood.
Sales Manager—Robert Wells.

Work of erecting the new warehouse will begin at once as three barge loads of material from the old warehouse in Manchester have arrived and are being unloaded. Messrs. Harding and Simons, who have the contract for tearing down and building have about completed the work and the remainder of the material will be transported to this city at once.

The outlook of the new concern seems to be very rosy indeed and the new officers seem very optimistic over their success. The new warehouse now gives Maysville eight looseleaf tobacco warehouses and several redrying plants.

The men at the head of the new concern are among the most prominent tobacco men in the state. Mr. Robert Wells, the new sales manager, is known everywhere for his knowledge of tobacco and tobacco markets. He has been connected with the local markets for a number of years and has a great host of friends throughout the county. Mr. Turner, the president, has also been here for a number of years. The presence of these men on the floor of the new house will doubtless serve to bring it much business.

Mr. J. B. Heiser of Covington was in this city yesterday looking after his tobacco interests.

MAYSVILLE PLANS KARNIVAL

(Portsmouth Times)

Having heard so much about the wonderful success of Portsmouth's famous Korn Karnival, the city of Maysville is contemplating holding a Tobacco Karnival this fall.

Probably more tobacco is raised in and around Maysville and handled there than any city along the Ohio and as its farmers also raise much corn the business men have started a movement for a Tobacco-Korn Karnival to be held three or four days.

Secretary F. P. Boone, representing the business men of Maysville, was here Saturday afternoon and called on Ralph Thomas, secretary of the Business Men's Association for "pointers" as to how to hold a Karnival.

Maysville's Karnival may be held November 30 and December 1 and 2.

SOLDIERS PASS THROUGH

A detachment of the Second West Virginia Infantry passed through Maysville yesterday afternoon en route to Fort Thomas, Ky., where the regiment will be weeded out, those being unable to stand the tests being compelled to return to their homes and those remaining will be stationed at that point until they become hardened to camp life. They will then be sent to the Mexican Border. The detachment was in charge of Lieutenant Cornwall of Charleston, W. Va.

WILL ARRIVE FRIDAY

The mother of Albert Starks, the man who was shot by Pete Faulkner at South Ripley last week, will arrive here Friday to take charge of the body of her son. The body will be until her arrival.

ATTRACTIVE WINDOW

The East window of the J. T. Kackley Book Store presents an unique Halloween display. The window is the work of Miss Lucy Wilson, the popular clerk of that store and is certainly a credit to that lady.

The City Mission's Annual Birthday Party will be a Halloween party on Tuesday night, October 31, from 7 to 10 o'clock.

BLUEGRASS LEAGUE REVIVAL REPORTED

Plans Being Silently Made for Operation of Base Ball Organization With Clubs at Lexington, Paris, Frankfort, Maysville, Winchester and Richmond During 1917.

(Lexington Leader)

While there is talk of organizing another circuit next year in Ohio, to be known as the Ohio State league, there are also rumors floating around which predict that the old Bluegrass league will again be in operation during the year 1917.

It was learned from a well-founded source today that there are a number of Kentucky towns that would welcome the advent of this league with open arms. Among the towns mentioned for berths in the league are Paris, Frankfort, Maysville, Lexington, Winchester and Richmond.

The Bluegrass league was in operation up till about four years ago when some of the towns with franchises became dissatisfied and decided to throw up the sponge. Several of the towns then joined the Ohio State League, those being Frankfort, Maysville and Lexington. The league operated till about the middle of last July, and was then forced to quite because of poor attendance in all of the cities. Practically every club in the Ohio State league lost money the past season, and sooner than continue they decided to give it up for the balance of the season.

The men who are promoting the plan to recognize the Bluegrass league are working very slowly and carefully and expect to have things mapped out by the first of the year. One thing that does more to hurt a class "D" league like the Ohio State or Bluegrass, is the long jumps from one town to another. This fault is to be corrected by the Bluegrass league promoters. If the six above towns that are after berths in the Bluegrass league are taken in, there will not be any long jumps.

When the Bluegrass league was in the field there were any number of star players developed and sent to the "big show", such as Fred Toney, star hurler of the Cincinnati Reds; Carl Wellman, southpaw pitcher, now with the St. Louis Browns, and Jimmy Viox, who played with the Pittsburgh Pirates for several seasons and is now in the International league. While in the Bluegrass league, Toney was a member of the Winchester team; Wellman was with Maysville, and Viox with Lexington.

"Casey" Stengel, Brooklyn outfielder, who has been performing so brilliantly in the present world's series, also played in this league, being a member of the Maysville team in 1910. Other players developed in this league who have made their marks in high-class professional ball are: Jimmy Jones, Al Kaiser, Fred Mollenkamp, "Humpty" Badel, Jim Black, Earl Williams and "Muck" McGraynor.

"MARYLAND WILL GIVE HER VOTE TO HUGHES"

New York, October 17—Maryland is no longer a doubtful State, but will go for Hughes, declares General N. Winslow Williams of Baltimore. General Williams has been a lifelong Democrat and served four years as secretary of State of Maryland. In 1912 he supported Roosevelt and served as Progressive national committeeman from his State. He was a caller at the Hughes alliance headquarters. "Some of the most prominent Democrats in Baltimore are actively supporting Governor Hughes," declared General Williams. "The president of the Hughes Business Men's league is C. C. Homer, president of the First National bank and of the Baltimore clearing house. He had never been anything but a Democrat up to 1916. One of the league's vice presidents is Thomas O'Neill, a leading dry-goods dealer of Baltimore, also a life-long Democrat. S. Stuart Janney, one of the best known members of the Maryland bar, and an old line Democrat, also a vice president of the league. The secretary and treasurer of the league are Democrats. Registration figures show that Hughes will carry Maryland. There was a falling off of 2,200 in the Democratic affiliation in Baltimore, while the Republican affiliation increased 2,000. In the last State election the Democrats won by 3,000. Baltimore City gave the Democratic ticket 4,500 majority. It is apparent on the basis of the decrease and increase of affiliations that Maryland is lost to Wilson."

All members of Maysville Council No. 1377 K. of C. are requested to meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock at which time District Deputy Donovan will be present to install officers.

John McAuliffe, Secretary.

RIPLEY BOYS SECURED BY REDS

(Cincinnati Enquirer)

Manager Mathewson has picked up a pitching marvel who is only 17 years old. This lad simply had to break into a major league at this tender age because, it is said, he could not get any catcher in the amateur or semi-pro ranks who could hold his delivery. His name is Febris and he hails from Ripley, Ohio. In his last amateur game Febris struck out 19 batters.

Since no one could hold Febris's delivery when he got those 19 strikeouts the catcher merely knocked down the pitched balls and got 19 assists, a world's record, by throwing out the runner at first base.

ANNUAL INSPECTION NEXT MON. DAY

The annual inspection of the officials of the C. & O. Railroad will begin next Monday morning from Clifton Forge, Va. The inspection train will be in Maysville about 3 o'clock of that afternoon. The inspection party will be composed of the president of the road the general superintendents, the division superintendents, supervisors and others. The train will consist of four or five private cars and one inspection car. The entire road will be gone over by the party.

ORDERED SUITS

Measurements for six suits for the members of the High School Basketball team for this year were made yesterday and the order for the same has been sent. The team this year promises to be a very strong one and they will undoubtedly bring home the bacon more times than they did last year. The girls will also have a team this year.

PLAYED AT ABERDEEN

The Bluegrass Concert Band of this city played for the speaking of Ex-Governor Cox at Aberdeen yesterday. The band has been somewhat in demand for the past several weeks for political gatherings and in every instance have given satisfaction.

THE TREND TOWARD HUGHES

Assertions from Democratic sources that the middle west will prove the real battle ground in the presidential campaign and that three states, Ohio, Indiana and Wisconsin, are likely to decide who will be president after March 4 next, were met today by the declaration from Republican western headquarters that if this is the case, the election of Charles Evans Hughes is a certainty.

With election day only four weeks away, a canvass of the middle western states, to ascertain the exact situation in each at this stage of the campaign, has just been concluded by the publicity department of the Republican headquarters in Chicago. The canvass shows that the Republicans in Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa are certain of victory both for the national and state tickets and that Kentucky and Missouri are the two doubtful states in the mid-west section.

Indiana, heretofore listed as the most doubtful state in the middle west, will record a heavy Republican plurality, according to every report received at headquarters from the Hoosier state.

"Indiana voters, regardless of party, trust Governor Hughes," says State Chairman Will H. Hays in a letter to headquarters. "Indiana will register a Republican majority in November that will forever set at rest the aspersion that we are a doubtful state. Indiana is for Hughes."

Wisconsin isn't the doubtful state that Democrats have been representing it to be, according to the reports to Republican headquarters. State Chairman George A. West, has informed the national campaigners that too much credence has been given outside Wisconsin to talk of dangerous factionalism there.

"The situation in Wisconsin is much better than has been generally reported," he says. "We expect to carry this state for Hughes by 50,000. The local factions are nearer together than ever before. The average voter thinks for himself and does not allow factional leaders to influence him to any great extent."

Reports received from Ohio and Michigan are that old time Republican pluralities, or something near them, are the outlook in both. Chairman John D. Mangum, of Michigan, declares his state will give Hughes 100,000 plurality. An equally promising situation is reported from Iowa.

"Minnesota will give Hughes a plurality of 50,000 or better," is the report of State Chairman E. L. Thornto, after a review of the local situation there. Kentucky and Missouri are in the doubtful class, with every incentive for hard work by the Republicans in them, are additional reports. That the vote in Kentucky will be close, with Hughes showing stronger as election day approaches, is the sum of the Kentucky advices.

As to Missouri, the Democrats can by no means depend on carrying it for Wilson, according to the reports to Republican headquarters. Republican State Chairman, T. W. Hudriede, sums up the situation there with the statement: "We have a splendid chance this time in this state. Many business men as well as farmers are becoming interested and Mr. Hughes is growing in popularity. Harmony prevails and in my opinion, when the returns are in we will find the electoral vote of Missouri for Mr. Hughes."

WILSON POLICIES INRECONCILABLE

The Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., today gave out the following statement at its Washington Headquarters:

"In the last few days President Wilson has given utterance to three economic policies that are absolutely irreconcilable.

"He asserted that American producers should compete 'on even terms' with the producers of all the rest of the world.

"He advocated the eight hour day.

"He opposed a protective tariff.

"If the American workman is to have an eight-hour day and no protective tariff, how can he possibly be 'on even terms' with the foreign producer who works ten or twelve or even longer hours?

"If the American workman is to be placed 'on even terms' with the foreigner, he must work nearly the same number of hours and adopt practically the same standards of living. While it is true that a man working eight hours will produce more per hour than the man who works twelve, it is utterly impossible that American workmen laboring eight hours at high wages can produce commodities as cheaply as Chinese laborers working twelve hours at wages which would scarcely buy even the butter for the American table.

"It is incomprehensible that any American workman will read these three policies of President Wilson and then declare by his ballot that he considers Wilson a possible leader in solving the economic problems that confront the people of the United States.

"The American workman must not be placed 'on even terms' with the foreign producer, either in the matter of wages, hours of labor, or standards of living. The difference must be safeguarded by a protective tariff."

Why all this fuss about Wilson having kept the country out of war? Other presidents have kept the country out of war—Harrison, Cleveland, Taft, even "the bellicose Roosevelt." And how he managed to do it with the largest navy we had must be a puzzle to those noble hearts who are too proud to fight.

Finnegan's Philosophy
Single Track Minds.

"What is he?" asked Finnegan. "Sure at Injinnypoles he said he was full of Annyimated Conservatism. Fwath's that ye say? 'Tis the turn-table on the wan thrack mind. It kapes spinnin' round and round an' devil a man can tell fwath switch it will pick up. It dinnau itself. So ye dinnau where to lay for it."

"'Twas so widd the arrumed freight ships. 'They're not warships,' he says, 'unless I change me mind,' he says, 'which I have,' he says, 'an' annywan who says so is a liar,' he says, 'but I refuse to discuss it,' he says. 'I'll pass the buck to Congress,' he says, 'on'y I won't,' he says, 'for 'tis no business of their's,' he says, 'though they must vote on the resolution,' he says, 'to show where they stand,' he says, 'Hince ye'll lay it on the table,' he says, 'an' 'thin they can't vote,' says Wudthrow to Stone.

"'I—thought I seen a fallacy,'—says Stone, 'thuid like, but the Great Inlayist brung down his fist widd a 'tump. 'Table the resolution,' says he, 'an' away goes Stone. 'Fwath does this mean?' axes the Sinit. 'Gintlemen,' says Stone, 'weepin' bitterly, 'Ye can frisk me. But thin's the orders,' says Stone, 'an' if anny man ivir knew fwath it meant he's kep quiet about it."

"So widd the fightin' wurd. 'We're too proud to fight,' says this terrible man to a bunch iv just-overs at Philadelphia. 'Haw-Haw-Haw,' says the wurd (a laugh gets his gort, Jawn). 'I was thinkin' iv somethin' I didn't say,' yells Wudthrow. 'Haw-Haw-Haw,' says the wurd, laughin' to split. 'Be this an' be that 'Too Proud to Fight' has made the reppytashun iv Wudthrow. 'Tis like the Monroe Doctrine to Monroe, or Emanshipashun to Lincoln. 'Twas translated into ivry tongue. 'Tis better known than the twenty-third psalm, or the famous oration iv the Guy-nor iv North Carliny. If an Ashtantee poked another in the eye, he'd give him the coon fr 'Are Ye Too Proud to Fight?' an' they'd both laugh before they went to the flare. All the recruitin' signs abroad had it an 'the shame wud bring three recruits, where 'Tipperary' or run wud bring wan. 'Oh, won't ye plaze stop laughin'?' says Wudthrow, but they laughed the more. So he sinds Jim Ham Lewis to explain. He's called Ham by reason he's so fond of pork.

"'Three thousand years ago,' says Jim Ham, 'or maybe less,' says he, 'an' ould Dago said 'Non Dinny Carey win Kerry' (or the like o' that, Jawn). It means not to have a chip on yer shoulder. 'Non Dinny Carey win Kerry,' says Jim Ham, 'an' Julius Sayer,' says he, 'an' Tolmy Philadelphia,' says he, 'an' the Earl iv Cheatem,' says Jim, 'an' William Hattch Seward,' says Ham, 'an' a lot more I forget,' says Ham, 'who felt the same way,' says Jim, 'although he says, 'they nivr said so,' says Jim Ham to the Sinit.

"'Now,' says he, 'how, I axe ye, cud the Prisdint know that the cultyvatd Christian audience,' he says, 'iv innymigrants,' says he, 'wud fail to grasp the noonce,' says Jim Ham 'An' Jawn, they shut the dures the way the people wudden't see the Sinit lose its dignity."

"Fwath's a noonce?" asked Malumphy. "'Tis a sort iv intellectual gold brick," replied Finnegan, slightly puzzled, "he which ye say fwath ye doant mane, an' mane wye doant say. The noonce comes out iv it somehow. 'Tis like I dinnau what. Just exactly like it," he added after a short pause. "I cudden't tell thin apart."

"Well," said Malumphy, "the single thrack mind gets nowhere, I'm thinkin'."

"Th' gauge is none too broad," replied his friend, "an' the thrack's heavy," he added.

WASHINGTON

MARGUERITE CLARK in "LADY EILEEN" AT THE WASHINGTON THEATER, NEXT FRIDAY, OCTOBER 20th.

Do you believe in fairies? When Maude Adams asked that question at the end of "Peter Pan," every man, woman and child in the theater invariably joined in the chorus of affirmatives. Now Marguerite Clark, herself the dainty incarnation of the elf spirit, is starred by the Famous Players in a delightful romance that answers this question better than any verbal reply could. Strangely enough, it is only the little Lady Eileen who believes in fairies at the beginning of the story. The others about her are entirely too practical for that, but after we have seen the people of elf-land lead the trusting little girl to her true lover, and destroy the imposter who attempted to get possession of her fortune, there can be no doubt at all that the fairies reward our faith in them. The irresistible Marguerite Clark makes of "Little Lady Eileen" an exquisite, mischievous, charming characterization that will live in your memory as long as did the fairy tales your mother told. Matinees at 2:30 and 4 o'clock especial for school children. We want 1,000 children to see this great fairy picture.

500 SEE TWO NEGROES HANGED BY PADUCAH MOB

Victim of Assault Thanks Lynching Party for Vengeance and Asks God to Forgive Her—Railroad Shopmen Head Lynch Party—Extra Officers Sworn in to Prevent Further Trouble.

Paducah, Ky., October 16.—Following the double lynching of Brack Kenley and Luther Durrett, negroes, shortly before noon today and the subsequent cremation of the bodies, Paducah resumed its normal condition tonight and fear of a threatened race riot has abated, although extra precautions were taken by swearing in about twenty extra policemen to guard the city.

The bodies of the victims are smoldering in the embers, no attempt having been made to remove them, and only the charred remains are left. A negro undertaker drove to the scene this afternoon, but returned without the bodies. The flesh mostly cooked away, the pyre is a ghastly spectacle. Durrett, who at first was reported to be Jesse Thornhill, a negro who made an ugly remark about Kenley's deed last Saturday, is alleged to have remarked he would kill some white man as the mob passed with Kenley. Members who heard the words yanked him from the sidewalk and hung him to a tree en route to Mrs. Rose's home, where Kenley positively was identified.

Mrs. Rose begged that her assailant be burned, saying:

"God forgive me if I am wrong."

A wire was stretched around her three room home to keep out the surging crowd.

The fire was started by one of the mob. The crowd cheered as the flames shot up and enveloped their victims.

Briefly Mrs. Rose thanked the mob for avenging the awful crime committed upon her, saying:

"My life is blighted and ruined, but I thank you all from the bottom of my heart."

In broad daylight, with leisurely determination and in full view of at least 5,000 people, a mob of 200 today took Brock Kenley, a negro, from the county jail, carried him three miles on foot to the home of Mrs. Elta Rose, whom he is accused of assaulting, had him identified and hanged him to a tree limb not forty yards from the house, riddled him with bullets and then set fire to him.

Two Hanged on Same Tree

Meanwhile another section of the mob captured Luther Durrett, another negro, accused of endorsing the crime of Kenley, and while identification was going on, hanged him to the very tree on which Kenley was later hanged.

It took the mob three hours to secure their man. County officials and police occupied the jail. They put up no fight, but discarded their keys and the mob was forced to send to a foundry for tools with which to enter the cages.

Circuit Judge Reed rushed up the jail steps and exhorted the jailer not to give up, but was forced away with a gun.

Women and children were in the mob that attended the lynching, many crowding eagerly to view the body, while others became hysterical and screamed. Kenley never uttered a sound during the ordeal. He was a negro of about thirty-five. Durrett pleaded with his captors not to kill him. He was young, about twenty-two.

Shopmen Lead Mob
The mob was led principally by Illinois Central shopmen, of whom George Rose, husband of the woman attacked, was a co-worker.

The mob began to form about 7 o'clock this morning, shortly after it was learned that Kenley had been arrested earlier in the morning by a local policeman, and at 8 o'clock a band of several hundred determined men, most of them fellow employees of Rose in the Illinois Central yards, gathered in the courthouse square.

Judge Reed and other officials of the county were summoned to the scene and pleaded with the mob to allow the law to take its course, but their efforts were in vain.

Judge Reed, undaunted by the threats of the mob, rushed to the jail and urged the jailer to refuse to give up the keys. He attempted to stop the oncoming band, but finally, when a gun was presented to his face, he was forced to stand aside.

Forces Jail Entry

The mob forced an entrance to the jail and then demanded the keys to the inner cell where the negro was confined. The jailer insisted he did not have the keys, and finally, after searching the officials, the mob forced its way with hammers and crows to the negro and led him away without further delay.

Followed by a great crowd of citizens, the leaders took Kenley three miles out into the country to the Rose home, where the negro was positively identified as the assailant of the woman.

Then he was taken to a low tree overhanging the road, a rope was put around his neck and an auto pulled him into the air.

Prior to the lynching of Kenley, the mob came upon Luther Durrett, another negro, on the road.

Durrett was the negro who made the remark immediately after the assault on Mrs. Rose, and while a search was being made in the Illinois Central yards for the guilty negro, that he would have done the same thing.

The mob took him in tow and, while the members were awaiting identification of Kenley, Durrett was strung up to the same tree and in the same manner in which Kenley was lynched later.

Then, after setting fire to the bodies, the mob dispersed.

The City Commissioners closed all saloons at noon and began recruiting deputies to assist the double police force in keeping order on the streets tonight.

Orders were issued to break up all gatherings after dark and do the best to preserve the peace.

The city labors under a pall this afternoon.

The lynchings generally are deprecated and deplored, but the fear is felt that negroes may become surly and offer some aggression to inflamed mob leaders, precipitating race trouble.

UNCOVERED ANOTHER WELL

In excavating for the brick streets Vastine, Nolan and Lowrey uncovered another of the old wells recently in front of the Rink on East Second street. These wells were used before the installation of the present water system in the city and were used for drinking and also in case of fires. It will be covered up by the contractors and the street laid over it.

WOODROW WILSON'S WOBBLY WAYS

Opportunism has claims that every statesman must respect. But never has there been an opportunist in the White House of greater willingness to change than the present incumbent. The country feared it had placed power in the hands of a doctrinaire schoolmaster incapable of bending. It finds that it has a man of remarkable plasticity of judgment, who one moment stands for states' rights and the next for nationalism, who one day is a pacifist, and the next is out-shouting Col. Roosevelt for arms and ships, who one week is for a barren neutrality and the next for war in behalf of general righteousness, who one night is for collective wage bargaining and arbitration of industrial disputes and the next is waving the flag of decreeing wages up or down as the votes of the larger number can be controlled.—New York Globe and Commercial Advertiser.
